

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

EVE Organization is one of the leading South Sudan women-led organizations focusing on women's development in South Sudan. The organization was established in 2006 in Sudan, 2008 in South Sudan and in 2017 in Uganda. The Organization is passionate about empowering young women to effect positive changes and values in their communities.

Under the Leaders of Peace project funded by the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Eve Organization for Women Development is looking for potential young women with leadership qualities to be trained, mentored and deployed to a number of Organizations within Juba. This is a twelve-week program where volunteers will be mentored and exposed to managerial and administrative work, projects management, leadership and communications skills development, critical thinking and reporting among others. By the end of the twelve weeks, fellows will emerge as confident, experienced young women leaders who are ready to influence both the public and private sectors of South Sudan.

This initiative is meant to strengthen the Organization's INCUBATOR – Young Women Leadership Program (YWLP) that we launched in 2017 in South Sudan and Uganda. This is a competitive program and shortlisted candidates will undergo basic written and oral interviews. Incentive will be provided for successful candidates to facilitate transport and lunch for the entire period of the program.
